b. The decisions of the individual central departments and the directives for the union policy are forwarded to the Labor Union County Council (krajaska odborova rada). The Labor Union County Council is bound to see that the decisions of the national administration bodies (National County Committee) are in accordance with the interests of the labor unions.

c. In order to insure a close connection with the members, Labor Union District Councils co-operating with the national administration body (National District Committee) were established in the industrial district towns. One district labor union may be in charge of several districts which are short of industrial concerns. The Labor Union District Council is subordinate to the Labor Union County Council.

d. In the plants, authorities, etc., committees of the Labor Union Plant Groups (zavodni odborove skupiny, ZOS) are elected by the group members. These committees are bound to act in close connection with the Labor Union District Council.

3. a. The board of management of the Labor Union Central Council (URO) is elected by the Labor Union Congress General (vseodborovy sjezd). This board consists of the chairman (at present Antonin Zapotocky), the chairman's executive deputy (at present Cipro), the secretary-general (at present Evzen Erban), the secretary-general's executive deputy (at present Kolsky) and the elected delegates. The board of management has to see that the policy fixed by the congress is executed.

b. The seat of the secretariat-general is Prague I, Perstyn. This agency is composed of the chairman of the Labor Union Central Council, his deputy, the secretary-general and his deputy, the representatives of the unions, those of the Central Departments of the Labor Union Central Councils, and the Cadre Expert Official (the Cadre Expert Official is an organ introduced by the Communist Party (KSC) in all plants and political organizations. It makes decisions in the personnel matters of any employee regardless of his function).

c. These are the main departments of the Central Council (URO):

- (1) The Central Departments (personnel, foreign countries, organization, etc.)
- (2) The URO Workers' Council
- (3) The Labor Union Plant Group
- (4) The KSC Plant Organization
- (5) The Workers' Committee.

d. The agencies listed under (3), (4) and (5) are represented in any union and department by so-called sectional groups.

4. Top agency of any union is the board of management elected by the Union Congress. This board consists of the chairman and his deputy, the Central Secretary, appointed by the URO Central Council, and the delegates elected by the Union Congress. The executive body is the Union Secretariat, headed by the Central Secretary who is assisted by managing secretaries and deputies, department heads, secretaries, expert officials and clerks, according to the size of the individual union. In the Labor Union County Council, each union is represented by one delegate. If there is only a small number of union members in some county, one secretary or expert official may be in charge of several unions.
